FEBRUARY Musicians at Options

12 Rene Gely (Pulse Mondiale) - Rene Gely (Pulse Mondiale) is a sonic voyage through the rhythms and textures of this planet's limitless styles of music. Leader Rene Gely plays guitar, piano and sings a repertoire of Afro-Cuban, Brazilian, jazz and folk songs accompanied by Rob Graves on percussion, Norm Glaude on bass and Rick Rangno on trumpet.

13 Jeff Asselin - Brian Asselin (Tenor Sax), Jeff Asselin (Drums), Eric Disero (Piano) and Alex Mastronardi (Bass). This group has been a driving force in the Ottawa jazz community with multiple appearances at the Ottawa International Jazz Festival

14 Valentine's Day - Tyler Kealey is a talented blues/jazz/pop pianist and singer who performs regularly as part of a popular duelling pianos show. He is constantly lending his talent to local bands, and has played with Silver Creek, the Cooper Brothers, Charlie Major, and Roxanne Potvin. Tyler plays a successful solo pop act as well and has just released his first full-length album, Characters, in 2009.

20 Stephen Johnson began his musical education at the age of six. After studying piano for several years he switched to trumpet, then the euphonium in junior high, and ultimately turned to the guitar for inspiration. Points On A Curve, his first solo release (recorded by André White in 1988), featured Stephen as a composer and band leader with Tilden Webb on piano, Dave Laing on drums and Fraser Hollins on bass. His most recent compilation, SOJO, was recorded following his completion of his Masters. Stephen's greatest influences are diversely rooted in jazz, funk, R&B, soul music and rock n' roll.

26 Rene Gely (Pulse Mondiale)

27 Iyono Ede Duo - Iyono and Steve had the opportunity to meet when they both joined a local group by the name of Sugarphyx. There they had the opportunity to work together for the first time. Although Sugarphyx disbanded a couple of years later, that was not to be the end of this dynamic duo. What started out as working in the studio on original tunes, turned into something more. A couple months of rehearsals and development of a repertoire of music focused on a little something for everyone, Iyono and Steve had their first show and haven't looked back since.
